Purpose

Faith community nurses will be equipped to build programs of care in their communities through partnerships with pastors and local agencies and will have knowledge to utilize local resources to encourage healthy living among their communities. Faith community nurses will have the tools to care for themselves and their communities as their congregations age and face many medical challenges.

About Contact Hours

Applied for 5 Contact Hours

Lexington Medical Center is an approved provider of continuing nursing education by the South Carolina Nurses Association an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

Exhibitor Table Information

The SCFCNA welcomes for-profit and not-for-profit exhibitors This conference offers a unique opportunity for exhibitors to share information about health programs, services, and other resources available in S.C. with persons who are interested in or involved in congregational health ministry and/or faith community nursing.

Because the number of available exhibit tables is somewhat limited, tables are reserved on a first-come, first-served basis. Priority is given to our partnership sponsors and to applicants who follow the guidelines. For further information regarding the conference please visit our website at www.scfcna.com. Registration forms are available on the website for download
